

Whitney J. Wells

My name is Whitney Wells. I was born in Colorado, USA. I first came to Japan to do study abroad through the Associated Kyoto Program at Doshisha University. I returned to the US to graduate from my university and a year later came back to Japan with the JET Program. I spent a year in Wakayama as a star English teacher with occasional lesson demonstrations for the board of education and English educators of Wakayama. Then I moved to Osaka where I spent the next year and half doing international sales for a Japanese plastics company.

In high school I had decided to stop being shy and tried out for a musical. When in the spotlight I am a different and more dynamic personality. I preformed in four productions and also became a member of the improv team. Throughout university I worked in the theater as a part time job. I have an appreciation for what it takes to put a production together and I love being in the spotlight.

Education: Bucknell University September 2002-December 2005
BA: Economics, East Asian Studies

Doshisha University September 2004-May 2005
Associated Kyoto Program, study abroad

Skills: Martial Arts training
Japanese: business conversational
Japanese Driver's License

Experience:

Maruhan commercial Ringside Photographer March 2009

FM802 Japanese speaking foreigner March 2009

Exhibition English Lesson English Teacher March 2007

KRFC Radio News News Ranger February 2006-June 2006

Lighting and Sound Technician September 2002-December 2005
Bucknell University Performance Services

- Set up and operated technical theater lighting and sound systems in-house and at outside venues
- Trained new crew members on set up, maintenance, and operation of equipment

Fort Collins High School Theater

Vaudeville 2001 Solo Rant April 2001

Alice in Wonderland Mock Turtle November 2000

Vaudeville 2000 Lost Drum Boy April 2000

Guys and Dolls Harry the Horse November 1999

Advanced Improvisational Acting Team